Train

The train station is located two floors down the arrival level at Brussels Airport.

The train appears to be the most advantageous mean of transports to come to the airport.

There are 6 trains per hour from Brussels city centre. The connection lasts between 15 and 20 minutes.

An average price ticket to link Brussels airport to the European district is about 8€.

Bus

The bus station is located one floor down the arrivals at Brussels Airport. The access requires five minutes walk to reach Microsoft office.

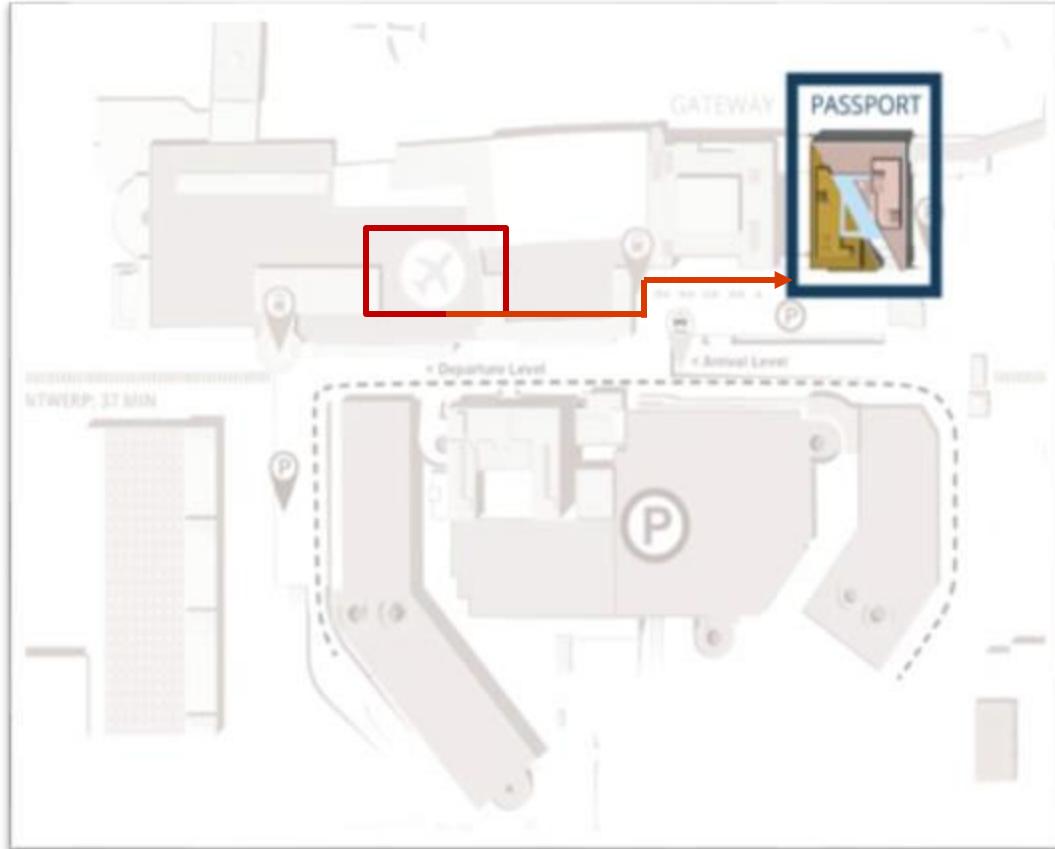

There are 2 companies operating bus transports in Brussels region: STIB and De Lijn (Flemish).

- STIB owns two lines : 12 et 21. These lines are coming directly from Brussels city centre (European district) connection between Airport and OTAN (price ticket : 3,5€ from European district).
- De Lijn: not very advantageous but not very expensive / request a lot of time to come from Brussels because of the traffic.

Plane

Arriving by plane at the airport, you can access Microsoft office very easily.

The entrance of the building is on the same level as the departures.

The arrival floor is located one floor below this latter.
